Civic workers end strike after govt's assurance

Permanent status likely in 3 months: Lawyer

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

POURAKARMIKAS across the state who were on an indefinite strike from July 1, called it off on Monday after receiving a latest proceeding copy from CM Basavaraj Bommai's office assuring them that the process of regularisation of their services will begin.

Narayan Mysuru, President, Karnataka State Nagara Palike, Grama Sabhas and Pattana Panchayat Pourakarmika Maha Sangha had given a call for the indefinite strike from July 1 to mount pressure on government.

The same day at 6.30 pm, a meeting was held at the CM's official residence Krishna and a proceeding copy was circulated stating that a committee would be formed to look into their demands and a report will be submitted explaining the legal aspects involved in granting permanent status to cleaners, loaders, drivers and underground drainage workers who are employed on contract. But the protesters refused to call off their strike saying the proceeding was contradictory to what was agreed upon.

Lawyer and activist Vinay Sreenivasa said, "The government has issued the latest copy of the proceedings and mentioned the time-frame to grant permanent status in the next three months".

BBMP Solid Waste Management Commissioner, Harish Kumar told the Palike faced little problem with keeping the roads clean despite many sweepers on strike as sweeping machines were deployed. Social Welfare Minister Kota Srinivas Poojari assured the protesters an order would be passed on Friday regarding a hike in remuneration of pourakarmikas.

Dakshith's condition is said to be critical. A senior police officer said the incident took place at 9.30 pm. Suddagunte Palaya police have filed a case. Based on a complaint by victims, an FIR has been registered.

Water will reach Arkavathy Layout soon

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

THE first step towards providing water and sanitary connections for the Arkavathy Layout proposed by the state government in 2003-2004 has finally been taken. An approval to provide water and sanitary connections for this BDA layout has been received from the Chief Minister's office last week.

The project would be taken up at a cost of Rs 490 crore, said a top BDA official.

While 8,813 sites were initially planned for the Layout spread across 17 villages in Bengaluru East and Yelahanka ka villages, a series of redo notifications and litigations have now brought down the number of sites in the Layout to nearly 3,500.

"The proposal was approved by BDA board a few months ago but we got the green signal from the CM office in the last week of June. The task will be entrusted with the BWSSB now."

Arkavathy Layout allottees forum president M Nagaraju welcomed the move. "Many site owners are waiting to construct houses for long. As soon as water is available, they will start the construction," Nagaraju said.

Proposal was approved by BDA board a few months ago but the nod from CM's office came in the last week of June

Residents miffed, Samithi calls bandh on July 12

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

IN a turn of events over the contentious Chamarajpet Idgah Maidan, the Chamarajpet Okkoota Samithi has warned of a 'Chamarajpet Bandh' on July 12.

The Samithi secretary Rukmangada S told TNIE that all the commercial establishments have decided to shut shop on their own as a symbolic protest. "On July 10, Bakrid will be celebrated, and the protest will be called two days after the festival," he said.

The residents in and around the area felt that BBMP has disappointed them by giving permission to use the playground for other religious purposes and Independence Day celebrations.

The BBMP had recently said that the Wakf Board had claimed the property and submitted records including gazette notification dated 1965.

BJP leader NR Ramesh had alleged that MLA BZ Zameer Ahmed Khan had influenced BBMP to favour one section in this issue, an allegation which BBMP chief commissioner Tushar Girinath has refuted, stressing that Wakf Board has not come forward to claim ownership, and has now applied for khatha since 1965. In 1974 records, the land has been shown as Palike property, he added. The Palike has also sent another notice to the Wakf Board regarding a few records to be submitted within a weeks to prove its ownership.

05th July: I was talking about the Moon goddess yesterday. In some cultures, though, the Moon is a god. In ancient Babylon he ruled the calendar and, because we count the days, he was responsible for maths. In ancient Egypt he was also responsible for magic so, if you really wanted to get your way, he was the god to call on!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr 20)

You won't be the only person to be affected by pride today, but you may have the most cause. Yet rather than being smug or complacent, focus on your own real achievements and do what you can to help others. The time will come when you'll be rewarded for your generosity.

TAURUS (Apr 21 - May 21)

Unexpected developments are about to enter the domestic and private pattern of your life. There is every indication that these will represent a considerable improvement over current conditions. That has to be good news, especially in view of everything that you've been through recently.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)

Any discussions with family members, or news about emotional ties, are bound to be pleasant. At the best you'll experience a sense of hope and personal liberation. If you wish, you may abandon the lack of confidence which has so often held you back.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)

All your instincts and hunches may tell you that this is the time to splash out, and they could well be right! If you feel a generous impulse coming on, you may give it free rein and count the cost tomorrow. But if partners are likely to disagree, you'd better get them on your side first.

LEO (July 24 - Aug 23)

You're still in control, even if the flag of emotional revolt does happen to be raised very soon. If you are faced with anger at home, don't confront it. Gently deflect bad feeling in the manner of an oriental sage, and so disarm your opponent with goodwill.

VIRGO (Aug 24 - Sept 23)

Sometimes you're willing to face big personal challenges head on. A bone of contention may relate to a home or family matter, but if I were you, I'd leave well alone today. If you do want to get your own way, and which of us doesn't, hold your horses until tomorrow.

LIBRA (Sept 24 - Oct 23)

You are now in an ideal position to take the initiative socially. Even at work you will be able to galvanise other people, although it looks as if you should leave them to figure out the details. I should think it will be good for them to take a little responsibility for their own actions.

SCORPIO (Oct 24 - Nov 22)

You're reaching a minor turning point in your material affairs. At this stage, you must either complete a financial deal or think about writing off a small sum of money for good. The fact is that pursuing such issues may not be worth your valuable time.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov 23 - Dec 22)

The world is about to see you at your best, and I mean the whole world. If you have any aspirations at all to set off on a tour of distant parts, there is no time like the present. At the very least you should get in touch with relations in far away places.

CAPRICORN (Dec 23 - Jan 20)

You often experience emotional insecurities and conflicts. The last thing you should do is to revive old battles, especially over pointless issues like who pays for, or owns, what. A generous gesture would be a far better alternative, and could win you a friend for life.

AQUARIUS (Jan 21 - Feb 19)

If you are to achieve the kind of acceptance you have always craved, you must make a bid now. The close relationship between the Moon, Jupiter and a series of other planets indicates that if you give them the chance, other people will at last be ready to listen and help.

PISCES (Feb 20 - Mar 20)

You seem to be in danger of overplaying your hand at work. At though you're in a fortunate position, you should now reinforce your current gains and allow other people a chance to shine. In love, do be sure to let others know how you're feeling.

Anti-Corruption Bureau officials arrest IAS officer J Manjunath (centre) in bribery case

IAS officer in ACB net after HC flak

Manjunath was DC of B'lu Urban district

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE sleuths of the Anti-Corruption Bureau (ACB) arrested former Deputy Commissioner (DC) of Bengaluru Urban district, J Manjunath in connection with a corruption case. The arrest comes days after the Karnataka High Court pulled up the ACB for not cracking down on IAS and IPS officers. Manjunath, an IAS officer who was the DC for Bengaluru Urban district, was transferred as the director for Integrated Child Protection Scheme on July 1 after the high court made serious observations about the functioning of the ACB while hearing the bail petition of an accused in a corruption case. The ACB officials, who had not named Manjunath as an accused in the case reported on May 21, had reportedly made him accused number three. It is said that Manjunath, who was questioned by ACB officers on Saturday, had moved an anticipatory bail plea. However, continuing the investigation into the case, the IAS officer was arrested by the ACB police on Monday. A resident of Begur had moved a revenue appeal in the DC's court in connection with a 38-gunta land in Koodlu near Anekal. To issue an order in his favour, Deputy Tahsildar/Manager Mahesh had allegedly demanded Rs 5 lakh. On May 21, the ACB officials trapped Chethan Kumar, DC's court assistant, while he was accepting the bribe on behalf of Mahesh, and the two were arrested. However, the ACB had received flak as they had not booked the DC, though the complainant had mentioned his name.

ANTI-VENOM CENTRE WILL HELP PREVENT DEATHS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

IT/BT and Science and Technology Minister C N Ashwath Narayan laid the foundation stone for the Anti-Venom Research and Development Centre (AVRDC), which is a collaborative effort between the Indian Institute of Science (IISc), Karnataka Innovative & Technological Society (KITS) and Institute of Bioinformatics and Applied Biotechnology (IBAB). The minister said the centre, which will be fully functional in the next five years, will help prevent deaths caused by snakebite, especially to farmers. "India is considered the global capital for snakebites, causing 58,000 deaths and 137,000 disabilities annually. One of the major limitations of pursuing snake venom research in India is the lack of access to venoms. Owing to this, a vast knowledge gap exists in the field of snake venom research in the country," he said on Monday. The centre, the first of its kind in India, is to be built at a proposed cost of Rs7 crore, and will house a serpentarium with an estimated 500 species of snakes and other venomous animals, including scorpions and spiders. "It will also house a research facility and incubation centre for startups interested in pursuing biotechnology research on venoms. AVRDC will also foster the development of better therapeutics to reduce snakebite fatalities," the minister said.

"The objective of the centre is also to pursue research towards the development of a broadly efficacious next-generation anti-venom therapy. The centre will also assist commercial Indian anti-venom manufacturers in efficacy testing of venom and anti-venom products, as well as in advancing the effectiveness of conventional anti-venoms," said Dr Karthik Sunagar, who will be heading the centre.

The centre, in addition to research and development, will work alongside the State Forest Department to spread awareness on snakebites to locals as well as help in wildlife forensic research.

Siddu says not enough to just blame officials, many ministers will be in jail if scam probed thoroughly

DKS alleges Araga Jnanendra misled investigation by openly denying there was any scam in recruitment

OPPN SEEKS HOME MINISTER'S SCALP

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

FOLLOWING the arrest of senior IPS officer and former chief of police recruitment, Additional Director General of Police (ADGP) Amrit Paul, in connection with the police sub-inspector recruitment scam, the opposition Congress leader has demanded the resignation of Home Minister Araga Jnanendra.

Targeting the Home Minister, Leader of Opposition Siddaramaiah said only officials cannot be blamed for the scam and the minister should also be held responsible. For the first time, an ADGP-rank officer has been arrested in a scam and many ministers will be in jail if the PSI scam is investigated thoroughly, the Congress leader said.

In a series of tweets, Leader of Opposition Siddaramaiah stated that more skeletons will tumble out of the closet, and the arrest of Paul is a classic precursor to this.

"What will CM Basavaraj Bommai and Home Minister Araga Jnanendra say about this now? They went all out to deny any scam, but now there is clear indication of one," he said. Further Siddaramaiah said that it is not enough if only officers are blamed for the scam. "Even Home Minister Araga Jnanendra is equally responsible for this. CM Bommai should first sack Araga Jnanendra from the cabinet," he demanded.

Hitting out at the BJP government, KPCC president D K Shivakumar said corruption has reached to the top in this government.

"Earlier, the Home Minister openly said that there is no scam in the PSI recruitment. He has misled the investigation. It's not just PSI recruitment, there is scam in many other departments. The government has arrested the middleman, but what about the main culprit?" he asked and demanded the resignation of the Home Minister.

Meanwhile, Congress leader Rahul Gandhi demanded that the CM, who was the Home Minister then, should be sacked for fair investigation. In a tweet, he said, "BJP's brazen corruption & Sale of Jobs destroyed the dreams of thousands of youth in Karnataka."

Why hasn't the PM taken ANY ACTION? Is this the BJP govt's "Sab Khaenge, Sabko Khilaenge" moment?"

In its official twitter handle, the Karnataka Congress said that the PSI scam is huge. "For the first time in history, an officer with ADGP ranking has been arrested. Its a joke on administration that police are arresting police. If honestly investigated, half the cabinet ministers should be in jail," it tweeted.

Former CM and JDS Leader HD Kumaraswamy tweeted that the state government should not spare anyone involved in the scam. "The influential should not be spared," he said.

THE PSI recruitment scam has rocked the BJP-led government with the Opposition upping its ante against alleged corruption in government machinery. The examinations for the post of 545 PSIs were held in October last year, when Paul was ADGP, Recruitment. Over 54,000 candidates had appeared for the examination across Karnataka at 92 centres. After the scam broke out, the government transferred him to the Internal Security Division (ISD) and annulled the examination.

The CID has so far arrested 79 people including Paul in the scam and registered eight FIRs. Out of the arrested, 32 are candidates, who had allegedly cleared the examination through fraudulent means. Eleven of these candidates are constables and head constables. All the arrested government officials have been placed under suspension.

Last week, a single-judge bench of Karnataka High Court, Justice H P Sandesh had observed that corruption with regards to the appointment of PSIs is a serious matter and had directed the Director General of Police (DGP), CID, P S Sandhu to personally monitor the investigations as the court heard the bail petitions of the accused. "The truth must come out. The court will also monitor the progress of the investigation. The action should be initiated against the accused, irrespective of whether they are ministers or officers," the court noted, while directing Sandhu to submit a progress report regarding the investigation on July 7.

Statement of office staff led to ADGP's arrest: Jnanendra

BENGALURU: Home Minister Araga Jnanendra said ADGP Amrit Paul was arrested based on the statement of the other accused, particularly the staff working in his office. Addressing the media after the CID arrested the former chief of the recruitment wing in connection with the alleged irregularities in the PSI scam, the Home Minister said the investigative agency had carried out a meticulous probe transparently and there is no question of shielding anyone, irrespective of their position, involved in the case. "The DySP and other staff, who were working in the ADGP's office and were arrested, had given statements about Paul's involvement in the scam. Based on that and other evidence, the CID arrested the ADGP," Jnanendra said. "The OMR sheets that were kept in the locker in the ADGP's office were taken out and rewritten after switching off the CCTV cameras. Who is the custodian of the OMR sheets? Who should be held responsible for this? The ADGP's role in the scam is very evident," the minister said. ENS

Judge comes down on state govt, says corruption thriving

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

CASTIGATING the state government over allegations of corruption shaking up the Bengaluru Deputy Commissioner's office and Anti-Corruption Bureau (ACB), High Court judge Justice HP Sandesh on Monday disclosed that a fellow judge had informed him of a threat to his court.

This was after Justice Sandesh, on the last date of hearing, sought to know whether the state government had verified the ACB ADGP's credentials and integrity prior to his posting, as the CBI had conducted a raid on him when he was Superintendent of Police. He also wanted to know how many search warrants were issued, how many were executed, and in how many cases 'B' reports were filed by ACB.

Expressing anguish while hearing bail pleas relating to the accused, caught red-handed accepting a bribe of Rs 5 lakh at the Deputy Commissioner's office, Justice Sandesh observed:

"My concern is only about society, cancerous corruption and about the Prevention of Corruption Act. The fellow judge, informing about the threat, also disclosed that earlier a judge was transferred to another district under similar circumstances. It is a direct attack on the independence of the judiciary. It is my duty to protect the judiciary and I am affiliated only to the Constitution. I will see whether the Constitution, or he (IPS officer from North India) is more powerful. I will not budge to any threat...Being the son of a farmer, ploughing the field is not a humiliation".

When Advocate General Prabhuling K Navadagi requested him not to get hurt over the developments, and said the state government is with the court, Justice Sandesh asked him, "What is happening in the state? 'B' report is filed though accused is caught red-handed accepting bribe. Out of 545 PSI posts, 400 posts are sold. When the state stands humiliated over corruption, what is the government doing? Except sucking blood, the public is being exploited for each and every thing in government offices. Why is the state protecting IPS and IAS officers?"

Justice Sandesh also quoted two instances of how corruption cases are being handled in the state -- first, a judge of the trial court was transferred for issuing notice to the Investigating Officer of ACB for filing a 'B' report against an IAS officer, in whose house over Rs 4 crore in cash was found, and 5kg of gold was seized during a raid. The other judge, who was posted in place of the transferred judge, accepted the B report against the tainted IAS officer within a week.

He also gave the example of former Chief Secretary Arvind Jadhav and others who are facing a land grab case. The hearing was adjourned to July 7.

GIVING a boost to the fisheries department, Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai said an order has been passed to set up 2,000 fishing ponds across the state. This apart, a processing unit will be set up on 25 acres at Almatti in Vijayapura, to encourage inland fisheries.

Bommai said this at a function for renovation of the aquarium at Cubbon Park, organised by the Department of Fisheries and Inland Water Transport. Addressing the public, he said, "Based on the PPP model, a Singapore-type aquarium with a tunnel will be set up at Lalbagh and Cubbon Park government aquariums, and will be renovated to attract children."

"To give a boost to inland fisheries, the government will set up a processing unit on 25 acres of land in Vijayapura. We will look at tapping potential along the state's 330km of coastline. In all, 100 boats have been sanctioned to Coastal Karnataka for marine fishing, and I am in talks with big processing units to set up their base here," Bommai said.

The department's total output was 1 million tonnes, and this time, a target of 1.25 million tonnes has been set. He said the government is contemplating capturing deep sea resource.

Murmu to visit Bengaluru on Sunday

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

DRAUPADI Murmu, the National Democratic Alliance (NDA) nominee for the presidential election, will visit Bengaluru on Sunday to seek support from BJP legislators and parliament members.

Murmu, an Adivasi woman, has already proved her abilities in various posts, including as governor, as minister and as a college lecturer, and her victory in the July 18 presidential elections is certain, BJP General Secretary C T Ravi told reporters on Monday.

Responding to opposition presidential candidate Yashwant Sinha's remarks that Murmu should make an affirmation that she will not be a rubber stamp president, Ravi said the country doesn't need a rubber stamp president, but the mind-set of indulging in a false propaganda against a self-made Adivasi woman is dangerous.

Murmu will meet BJP legislators and MPs on Sunday and is also likely to meet Janata Dal (Secular) leaders.

However, the meeting with the JDS leaders is yet to be confirmed. The regional party had indicated that it will support the NDA candidate.

Responding to Sinha's allegations that the government is misusing central agencies, the BJP leader said the Enforcement Directorate (ED) or Income Tax Department cannot do anything to those who are honest, but corrupt cannot escape from them.

THE history of our freedom movement is a symbol of the strength of our diversity, culture and unity as a nation, Prime Minister Narendra Modi said after he inaugurated the 125th birth anniversary celebrations of legendary freedom fighter Alluri Sitarama Raju in Bhimavaram on Monday.

Modi virtually unveiled a 30-foot bronze statue of the tribal leader as part of the celebrations and later addressed a rather impressive crowd at Pedda Amiram, three kilometres from Bhimavaram.

Minister for Culture G Kishan Reddy, former Union minister for culture and actor Chiranjeevi, State Culture Minister RK Roja and BJP senior leader D Purundreswari were present at the event. Although Jana Sena Party chief Pawan Kalyan said he had received a special invite from Kishan Reddy, he did not attend the event.

Non-Hindus too may have faith in temple deity, says HC

ENS @ Madurai

THE Madurai Bench of the Madras High Court on Monday dismissed a PIL that sought a direction to bar non-Hindus from taking part in the consecration ceremony of Adikesava Perumal temple in Kanniyakumari, saying that even non-Hindus who have faith in Hindu deities may visit temples and it would be impossible for authorities to verify the religion of all worshippers who enter a temple.

C Soman, a Kanniyakumari farmer, in his PIL said that if non-Hindus are permitted to enter Hindu temples and participate, inspect, or inaugurate festivals like consecration and temple car procession, it would be an interference to the pujas held in accordance with 'thanthrik' norms. A bench of Justices PN Prakash and R Hemalatha said the issue should be looked at from a broader perspective. "Many Hindus also visit Nagore Dargah and Velankanni Church. The devotional songs rendered by singer KJ Yesudas on Hindu deities are being played in many Hindu temples," the judges said.

The petitioner had also pointed out that the commissioner of Hindu Religious and Charitable Endowments (HR and CE) department prioritised Minister of Information Technology T Mano Thangaraj, a non-Hindu, in the invitation distributed for the aforesaid ceremony which is slated to be held on July 6. The petitioner added that if temple festivals are celebrated like government functions, ministers would get the entire attention instead of deities and pujas.

DPI INITIATES INQUIRY, MEETS PARENTS, SCHOOL AUTHORITIES

"The teacher has been given a notice seeking an explanation and came to the school on Monday for an inquiry. When we got to know of the incident, we took the child first to a private hospital and then to Vani Vilas on Friday for treatment. The parents had approached us instead of taking him to the hospital first for treatment. Mahadesh, an MTech, has been teaching since four years and there has been no such case so far in the school," Rajesh H N, chairman of the education society told TNIE.

Rajesh said children normally do not do homework and after the Covid-19 pandemic their psychology and seriousness about education has changed.

Meanwhile, the Department of Public Instruction (DPI) has initiated an inquiry into the matter and held meetings with the parents and the school authorities. The Chandra Layout police have taken up a case and summoned the school teacher for questioning based on a complaint by the parents. They have also taken the statements of the parents and the child.

Dr Mallesh K, HOD, Paediatrics, Vani Vilas Hospital, said the child was admitted on July 1 and was discharged on July 4. He had an abrasion on his right cheek and was complaining of ear pain when touched on the cheek and ear. ENT, ophthalmology and psychological assessments have been done. His acute emergency condition is stable and he has been asked to come back for follow-up treatment after 2-3 days.

Another medical representative attending to the child, said while requesting anonymity: "The injury and marks on the face show that he was slapped and did not fall."

ACTION WILL BE TAKEN, SAYS OFFICIAL

Deputy Director for Public Instruction South, Balyanjanappa, told TNIE that a report on the incident is still underway and appropriate action will be taken against the school and teacher based on the report. Education Minister BC Nagesh told TNIE that the case would be seriously looked into and investigated. Block Education Officer, Bengaluru South, Girijamma H N inquired with principal Shobha R and Mahadesh. She, however, was not available to share details despite repeated attempts.

School and students are not meant to dance to the tunes of a teacher and their frustrations. There should be proper training provided for teachers on how to handle a child. A child's mind will register everything that happens to them during childhood, and cases like these have a high chance of turning into trauma later in their life. This could also result in the child developing a kind of aversion towards school

According to initial test results it has come to light that there was no water contamination. However, we are collecting more water samples and have sent it to labs for another round of testing."

"It is not food poisoning as no function or festival was held in the village. I have directed the taluk officials to keep a tab on the village. As of Indi MLA YV Patil rushed to the hospital and enquired about the health of the villagers. He demanded a thorough probe into the incident.

The main reason behind the incident is poor maintenance of water tanks and lack of hygiene. Water is being supplied to the village from the 24x7 drinking water supply pipeline meant for Indi town," sources said.

National midwifery institute to come up at Bengaluru's Vani Vilas hospital

BALA CHAUHAN @ Bengaluru

KARNATAKA is setting up its first National Midwifery Training Institute (NMTI) at the State-run Vani Vilas Women & Children Hospital. The Midwifery Initiative is a public-private partnership between Central and State governments, UNICEF and Bengaluru-based 'Aastrika Foundation'.

According to informed sources, midwifery educators will be trained at NMTI with support from international midwives, who would in turn train nurse practitioners in midwifery at the State Midwifery Training Institutes in Karnataka.

The State, at 83 maternal deaths per lakh live births, is said to have the highest Maternal Mortality Ratio (MMR) in South India. Kerala, on the other hand, has an MMR of 30 maternal deaths per lakh live births.

One of the major contributors towards maternal deaths is poor quality of intrapartum (time period spanning childbirth) care.

"Midwifery is a proven, globally acclaimed intervention that can prevent as many as 83 per cent of all maternal and newborn deaths. The initiative has promoted respectful maternal care and natural births, thereby bringing down the need for C-sections," said Chief of Field Office, UNICEF for Andhra Pradesh, Karnataka and Telangana, Meital Rusdia.

Telangana is a pioneer on this front and, "learnings from the state initiative have fed into the national Midwifery Initiative. Based on the learnings from the pilot in Telangana and the guidance received from the Government of India, UNICEF has partnered with Government of Karnataka and Aastrika Foundation to support the launch of the Midwifery Initiative and the National Midwifery Training Institute at Vani Vilas Hospital in Karnataka. This is a gamechanger and a solution to the health personnel gap in the country," she added.

Lack of trained service providers or over medicalisation of the delivery process have been found to be the major reasons for poor intrapartum care. Disrespect and abuse of women during childbirth also act as deterrents for women and their families to opt for institutional delivery.

In 2018, the Ministry of Health and Family Welfare (MH&FW) had come out with guidelines for the Midwifery Initiative for all states and Union Territories.

Quoting a 'Lancet' report, which stated that safe and effective midwifery care (which includes family planning) can avert 83 per cent of all maternal deaths, stillbirths and newborn deaths, the Centre had rolled out the National Midwifery Guidelines during the Partner's Forum 2018 in New Delhi.

The guidelines introduced the concept of Midwifery Led Care Units (MLCUs) managed by nurse practitioners in midwifery at Medical Colleges, District Hospitals, First Referral Units (FRUs) and Community Health Centres (CHCs.)

BJP SETS ITS EYES ON TELANGANA IN SOUTHERN MARCH

The BJP has made its first clear move at realising its dream—capturing Telangana from the vice-like grip of KCR-led TRS. To this end, the saffron party, a significance no one could have missed, chose to hold its national executive in Hyderabad after 18 years. It finds Telangana both tempting as unconquered territory, with the overhang of the erstwhile Nizams still enveloping Hyderabad, and also relatively open—Karnataka is already under its belt, but the other southern states seem a bit more impervious to the net being cast by Prime Minister Narendra Modi and Home Minister Amit Shah. Telangana, in that respect, is a second portal.

At Parade Grounds in Secunderabad on Sunday, Modi—donning a blue 'uttareeyam' (upper cloth) to seem more inclusive not only to non-Hindus but also to the bahunas—vowed to end the dynastic rule and parochial politics in the state without mentioning Chief Minister K Chandrasekhar Rao. But the BJP knows it's one thing to leave the KCR fortress in a bit of fluster, quite another to breach it.

KCR, like a Deccan king of old, gave a fitting reply to the troop from Delhi, daring the BJP to do a Maharashtra in Telangana. He said he would do the same at the Centre if the BJP makes any attempts to destabilise his rule.

Tune out the white noise and one can see the rhetoric outdoes real strength for both parties. In the last Assembly elections, BJP won only one seat though it picked up two more in subsequent by-elections and four Lok Sabha seats in 2019. The TRS too is battling a quantum of anti-incumbency baggage it has not measured. Congress is busy fighting itself at least for now, but it will be a battle of wits for the other two, down to the wire.

ODISHA MUST HAVE ANTI-RAGGING LAW

Last week, a 19-year-old bachelor's degree student in Bhubaneswar died by suicide, leaving behind a purported note pointing to harassment at the hands of seniors. It has since snowballed into a controversy that has now found its echo in the ongoing Assembly session, where the Opposition has sought a CBI inquiry.

In April, a medical student in Balangir district of the State had allegedly jumped to his death, days after informing his parents about ragging. Three months hence, not much headway has been made in the case. The state accounts for approximately 2.7% of the country's higher educational institutions. Its share in the ragging case pool is about 7.5%.

Ragging, like a tendency to aimless violence spread through our youth demographic, seems to be keeping pace with other social pathologies in India. Between 2009 and 2022, the country reported over 7,840 cases across its anti-ragging call centres.

According to data presented in the Lok Sabha late last year, the 2018–2021 years alone recorded 2,970 cases. Ragging has prevailed like a ghost with none able to exorcise it, despite the arrival of online complaint, monitoring and compliance systems.

From the All India Technical Education Council to the UGC, over nine regulatory bodies are supposed to keep an overall watch on the phenomenon. Let alone prevention, the numbers have not abated – that's not counting the unreported incidents. And now, the problem of online ragging adds to the challenge.

Odisha, unfortunately, ranks after UP, West Bengal and Madhya Pradesh in terms of incidence of ragging. Dedicated committees and squads at the institutional level have brought no relief. About a dozen Indian states have specific laws to curb ragging while Odisha pins all the onus on UGC regulations.

The anti-ragging laws of Andhra Pradesh and Maharashtra carry imprisonment upon conviction and deny admission to the perpetrator in other educational institutions for specific periods—and even hold the heads of institutions liable for negligence. It is about time Odisha mulled over anti-ragging legislation.

Nothing in life is to be feared, it is only to be understood. Now is the time to understand more, so that we may fear less

People receded into their shells during the pandemic. Gadgets are now company, to the point where it is decent to be private and indecent to be intrusive, even by gaze

THE INDIVIDUAL HAS BECOME THE NEW SOCIETY

HARISH BIJOOR

Brand Guru & Founder, Harish Bijoor Consults Inc.

This fortnight I trend-track and traverse Europe. I leave the US behind and go in search of the elusive and ever-changing answer as to how society has morphed post the pandemic. And the catharsis it has brought about in terms of relationships, attitude, usage, consumption habit, brand choice, spend-orientation and more.

I meet people all across and get intrusive. Something people don't like at all anymore. People are getting more and more opaque than they were ever before.

The key question then. How opaque are you? Is every passing day making you wear masks of every kind? Peel-off face-masks that hide the real you and showcase the unreal you. Is there joy, method, truth and indeed madness in this indulgent exercise at all?

Let's trace a wee bit of recent history of occurrences that have shattered minds and psyches. The biggest one to start with is 9/11 in the United States of America. This event of madness and craze turned a whole society that lives in the US, and everyone else in many a country around, to re-think the way they want to live. The happy fervour of the old days of saying hello to a stranger is gone today. Today, it is considered rude to look, lock gazes and leave alone stare, which is a rustic native habit for sure. If you see a fight going on in the public subway, you are meant to let it be and let it go on. You are not meant to interfere, help, and least of all even look. In a subway today, it is considered rude to lock gazes or even smile. People must not connect in public spaces even. People must engross themselves with themselves and their devices. You make a private space for yourself in the most public spaces of them all.

And there you have it. The modern subway of the day, including the ones that traverse some of our big Indian cities, has people locked into their mobile devices, listening to music through their headsets, and even just looking out at the whizzing tunnel if that needs to be done. It's decent to be private, and completely indecent to be intrusive, even by gaze.

Society has gotten private then. It possibly started with the rude event of 9/11 and went on to get more and more an established practice with every passing small event. The pan-democratic topped it all. Keeping social physical distance was a mandate; the mask hid your face and the phone gobbled up your time, attention and concern for the stranger if you had any of that left. Today, if your head is down into a phone, your face is in a mask, your ears are busy with a set of iPods, you are as sensorial a human being as the dustbin or an ashtray on the train you are on.

Today, if you ask people directions in an alien place in the US or some parts of Europe, they will frown. They don't want you coming close, they don't want to talk to anyone, and in any case, they are busy all the time in the

When television first came to India, community viewing was the norm... the average viewership per set was an unbelievable 72. It was a veritable 'mela'... It has shrunk to seven today in the villages of India... it will then shrink to one when every mobile handset in the house has a television viewer glued to it alone. The smallest unit of society is the individual compulsory patches of their public-space presence with their devices and all that is going on in them.

We have gone insular then. As I check on people in the ostensibly more-developed nations of the world, I worry. Man has fallen on tough times. Man does not want to connect to man. The definition of whom I want to connect to is made by a complete personal plan and choice. Strangers are not welcome here. And everyone apart from my circle of I, me, myself, my family of 3 and a select set of physical friends, is a stranger. When I want more, I have social media to be of help. My virtual friends live here. I have 600 of them on Facebook, and possibly 6000 followers on Twitter and an equal number on Instagram. I will get virtual here.

What's ahead seems even more promising to this socially divorced generation of people. The metaverse is ahead. I can be who I want to be out here, with an avatar all my own. And this avatar (and not I) will interact with another avatar out there that belongs to someone else playing the same charade. The new society is all about wearing even more masks, creating even more fiction about the fact that just do not exist anymore. I am not I anymore. I am who I want to pretend to be. Vicarious living is the norm, and the metaverse is the ultimate locale that will afford all of this to me.

A lot has happened over the pandemic then. As I continue to explore more, I will rest the case here for now with a piece of data related to India. When television first came to India, community viewing was the norm in rural India. The average viewership per set was an unbelievable 72. It was a veritable 'mela'. As more and more folk got a television set of their own, community viewing shrunk. In 1984, the number was still a robust 18 per set. It has shrunk to seven today in the villages of India. It will shrink to five when every family has a TV set. It will shrink to two when every home will have 2 television sets. It will then shrink to one when every mobile handset in the house has a television viewer glued to it alone.

The smallest unit of society is the individual. Sadly, society is fast shrinking into it. The individual is the new society. (harishbijoor@hotmail.com)

MAJORITY TYRANNY: RESECTION OF ABORTION RIGHTS

NANDITA RAO

Advocate, practices at the Delhi High Court

The Supreme Court of the United States, in its recent judgement in Dobbs V. Jackson Women's Health Organization, held that right to an abortion was not a Constitutional Right, thus entitling the State to regulate or even ban abortion. By this judgement the Supreme Court reversed its own judgement in Roe vs Wade, which had held the field since 1973.

The Supreme Court has justified the reversal of its earlier judgement on the grounds that taking social and economic decisions was within the purview of the legislature and not the Courts. And further on the grounds that Supreme Court judgements holding same sex marriage as a Constitutional Right of liberty did not involve any critical moral question as is posed by abortion. The critical moral question identified is "the right to life of an unborn foetus." One does not have to go far to understand the medical and health repercussions of this judgement on women in the United States. In 2012, the world witnessed the tragic death of a young 31-year-old woman, Dr. Savita Halappanavar, in a hospital in Ireland. She had a miscarriage but it took time for the foetus to lose its heart beat. The Irish doctors refused to remove the foetus by abortion because it is banned in that country. She ended up getting septicemia and died.

Medical experts opined that the abortion laws interfered with the medical discretion that could have saved her life. This incident galvanized campaigners leading to a repeal of the abortion ban in Ireland. Let us hope young women in the United States, especially poor women, who do not have the means to fly out of the US or to a probation state for health care, do not have to pay this price, before the United States Supreme Court reconsiders its legally questionable and morally conservative judgement.

In its over-200-page judgement, the Supreme Court appears preoccupied with the state's interest in foetal life. The court brushes away a women's autonomy to reproductive choice as being equivalent to drug abuse or prostitution and waives away health care considerations and costs as being addressed by insurance (without any data). The court also suggests that having unwanted children adopted was not difficult in the United States, again without any data to support or justify this from a child rights perspective. The US Supreme Court places reliance on British Common Law to suggest that the history and traditions of the country did not support abortion and in fact criminalised it.

In contrast to the situation in the US, here in India, the issue of whether abortion is a constitutional right of a woman has not arisen for consideration. However, in 1971, the Indian legislature passed the Medical Termination of Pregnancy Act, legalising abortions. The statement of objects and reasons of the Medical Termination of Pregnancy Act, 1971 acknowledged that though in the past century, British Common Law criminalised abortion, the

In 2012, the world witnessed the tragic death of a young 31-year-old woman, Dr. Savita Halappanavar, in a hospital in Ireland. She had a miscarriage but it took time for the foetus to lose its heart beat. The Irish doctors refused to remove the foetus by abortion because it is banned in that country. She ended up getting septicemia and died law was rampantly breached and was one of the major factors for the untimely death of pregnant mothers. It further records that doctors were confronted with pregnant women whose uterus had been tampered with by quacks conducting illegal abortions. Therefore, in order to save the pregnant women's health, strength and sometimes life, the Medical Termination of Pregnancy Bill was introduced and passed by Parliament.

In contrast, the US Supreme Court judgement appears to have little concern for the health or life of the mother and is preoccupied with the State having a legitimate interest in the issue of potential life of the foetus. The judgement is not merely a setback to the safety and dignity of women but also to the constitutional jurisprudence of the United States of America as it narrows the scope of liberty and life in contrast to what is stated in the Constitution. This strict interpretation is harmful to a scientifically, socially and morally dynamic society. Constitutional courts must not show historic rigidity or deference to majority public opinion, but ought to decide the right to life and liberty of an individual or gender based on the impact of such laws on that individual and gender.

In fact, the US Supreme Court has also failed to take into consideration international covenants on human rights including the Universal Declaration of Human Rights and the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights that prohibit arbitrary or unlawful interference in the privacy, family or home of an individual. It cannot be denied that the decision of the US Supreme Court has given a blanket sanction to the legislature to ban abortion, without even insisting that any legislation regulating abortion must not be arbitrary and must have a nexus with the health, both physical and mental, of a woman.

By allowing the State legislature or majority tyranny to regulate what a woman can and cannot do with her uterus creates a scary precedent whereby a majority can license the harvesting of other organs of a citizen or a group of citizens if deemed to be in public interest. In a society where slavery was legally sanctioned, this judgement brings alive a dark phase of US history where human beings and their progeny were bought and sold and owned through legislation. This judgement is nothing short of slavery of women as far as their reproductive rights are concerned. One can only hope that the ruling will be reconsidered by the court, before women have to pay for majority tyranny with their life, freedom, mental and physical health.

An unsung hero

This is with reference to Alluri, a warrior who terrified the British (July 4). Mr. Venkaiah Naidu's column was a wonderful biography of a great revolutionary hero who lived for only 27 years, but managed to do so much for the nation. Ambedkar's words "Life should be great rather than long" had an impact on the warrior, who showed compassion towards the Adivasis and the tribals. It is sad that history has forgotten such heroes. Sanath Kumar T S, Thrissur

A fitting tribute

The column by our Vice-President was a motivating narration on a warrior who fought for Adivasi rights against the British. I agree with Mr. Naidu's point that such great leaders did not find their rightful place in history textbooks. The Rampa Rebellion is a story that many people do not know about. Alluri's statue, which has been unveiled in Andhra Pradesh, will be a source of inspiration to brave the waves of injustice. Hemanth Bhide, Mangalore.

Target Telangana

This is with reference to the news Focus on marginalised: PM to BJP (July 4). BJP's National Executive meeting in Hyderabad has left an irreparable impression in Telangana. PM Modi even addressed the people in Telugu. In fact, a double engine government—where the same party is in power both at the Centre and the state—may actually benefit the people. This is evident in many states where the ruling party is in power; the schemes are efficiently implemented. K V Raghuram, Wayanad

The democratic path

This is with reference to the Dear elected representative, ask your voters if you want to change the party (July 3). This article hits the nail on the head. Voters always exercise their rights taking into consideration many factors like a party's ideology, its promises, popularity, etc. When it comes to defection, I believe that the correct and democratic way for a politician would be to resign from parliament or the legislature and then seek a fresh mandate. S V Venkatakrishnan, Bengaluru

Protect female athletes

This is with reference to the editorial Sexual harassment must end in sports (July 4). It is shocking and disgusting to note that sexual predators hide under the garb of coaches to abuse and ruin the career of female athletes. It is even more terrifying that a developed country like the United States has cases like these. Authorities must remove such elements. The Indian government and the sports ministry should work towards ensuring a free and secure environment for athletes so that they can perform to the best of their abilities on the national and international stage. Subbaraman V, Trichy

India's future

This is with reference to the news Next 30–40 years to be BJP era, south to be conquered next: Amit Shah (July 4). In our country, most parties have the issue of dynastic politics and this has not been very helpful to them. BJP does not support this idea. They have managed to convince many voters that they can provide stability, and voters seem to be happy about it and this helps them in the elections. Perhaps Shah's observations carry some weight. B Veerakumaran Thampi, Pattom

We are not Sena traitors, but revolutionaries: Shinde

The rebel legislators had genuine issues with the Sena leadership that we could not ignore, says the newly-appointed Maharashtra Chief Minister

NEW Chief Minister of Maharashtra Eknath Shinde says that he and his 'rebel comrades' are not traitors of the Shiv Sena. They are rather revolutionaries who have shaken the politics of the state for taking it in the right direction, he tells Sudhir Suryavanshi in a candid interview.

You were once trusted and very close aide of Shiv Sena president Uddhav Thackeray. Why did you still revolt against him?

ES: We have been in Maha Vikas Aghadi (MVA) since the last 2.5 years but as a party, we were not gaining anything on ground. On the other hand, NCP ministers were working hard and expanding their party. And they were also claiming that the NCP will get the highest numbers of seats in the next state assembly elections in 2024. On the other hand, there was no planning in our party. The elected Shiv Sena MLAs were getting restless. Majority of them was against NCP's Ajit Pawar, the Finance Minister, who was vigorously backing NCP's defeated candidates so that their tally will go up in the next election, making them the claimant of CM post. Most of NCP their leaders were vocal about next Maharashtra CM being from the NCP. It forced us to find out some ways to survive in politics. I personally met our leadership five times but it was in vain. As a leader who has seen Shiv Sena since childhood, I was worried to save the party. Forty of us took the conscious decision to tie up with our natural ally — BJP. Our leadership also needs to think why 40

MLAs out of 55 left them and joined hands with the BJP to form the government.

There were allegations that due to the pressure of the central agencies, you and other rebellious Shiv Sena MLAs left the Shiv Sena and joined hands with BJP, what is the truth in it?

ES: I started social work at the age of 18 and never earned money. I have faced police cases... was in jail for 40 days when we protested to include Belgaum in Maharashtra. I personally forced 16 dance bars to close down in Thane. I was never afraid of anything in my life. Therefore, there is no truth in allegations that due to the pressure of central agencies, we joined hands with BJP and

As a leader who has seen Shiv Sena since childhood, I was worried and wanted to save the party. Forty of us took the conscious decision to tie up with our natural ally — BJP.

Eknath Shinde

formed the government in Maharashtra. I wish to say that my only asset is people and their love. During the Covid-19 pandemic, I admitted to the hospital. There are only a couple of MLAs who are under the lens of central agencies. Rest of them come from the heartland, they have nothing to do with the ED or any other central probe. These legislators had genuine issues with the Sena leadership that we cannot ignore. It is not easy to take such a step (rebellion against own party leadership).

What was the bone of contention between you and party leadership that compelled you to revolt?

ES: I had no grievances against anyone. I never joined politics to get any post but to help and serve the people. I work round the clock. In 2014 to 2019, BJP and Chief Minister Devendra Fadnis were ready to give the Deputy Chief Minister post, but our leadership did not take it because it would be given to me. When the three party government was formed at that time, as the largest party in MVA, I was one of the claimants for the CM chair, but our party president told us that the Congress and NCP want him as the CM of Maharashtra. I was given Urban Development Ministry and several people used to interfere. I did not complain about it. During the Rajya Sabha elections, we were blamed for the loss of our second candidate Sanjay Pawar while at the state legislative council, I was not involved and not even consulted by the party. Besides, our fellow Shiv Sena MLAs were given the step motherly treatment by our partners in the government. Therefore, we all decided to do something for the party in its larger interest.

How much do you blame

Shiv Sena leader Sanjay Raut for this current political crisis within the Sena?

ES: We never spoke any word against anyone. We always maintained dignity against everyone. But some of the Sena leaders were calling us donkey, pan shopwala, autowala, etc, and they even insulted the women MLAs who came along with us. Balasaheb Thackeray never tolerated any word against women. If he had been there, he would have taught the lesson. One hand, the party leadership was telling them to come and talk with them, but on the other hand, some of the leaders were ridiculing us, asking people to attack houses, tear our posters and banners. They were instigating violence against us. But they forgot that we have spent more than 40 years for the Shiv Sena.

Army elite unit training BSF personnel

SUMIT KUMAR SINGH @ New Delhi

THE Border Security Force (BSF) personnel, for the first time, are being trained by country's elite Special Forces of Indian Army in Jammu and Kashmir amid rising threat from foreign terrorists, especially Afghanistan-based terrorists, at the Line of Control.

The 7 Para (Special Force) commandos of the Indian Army are imparting training to the BSF personnel to prepare them to thwart any threat at the border areas in Kashmir.

The BSF personnel are being trained as it has become and operational requirements at the LoC where intelligence agencies have alerted the security forces that around 500-600 terrorists are present in 11 terror

Special training for counter-terror duty at LoC

- 7 Para (Special Force) commandos of the Indian Army are imparting training to the BSF personnel
- Special training is to prepare BSF cadres to thwart any threat at the border areas in Kashmir
- Training has been necessitated due to rising threat from foreign terrorists, especially Afghanistan-based terrorists camps located in Pakistan-Occupied-Kashmir.

Guarding Line of Control in the Kashmir Theater is a big challenge and for that a robust security mechanism is needed. Earlier, platoons who have been coming to be deployed on LoC were imparted a pre-induction training by the BSF itself.

With new threats emerging in Kashmir, new challenges have been posed in front of the force so there is a requirement for advanced security mechanisms.

Talking about the training of BSF and 7 Para Commandos, Inspector General of BSF, Kashmir frontier, Raja Babu Singh, told The New Indian Express, "We had earlier held talks with the Indian Army to train our men. On our request, the Special Forces are now training them."

BSF with 192 battalions and seven artillery regiments is guarding the international border with Pakistan and Bangladesh. The force guards over 6,300 kms of the Indian fronts with Pakistan on the west and Bangladesh on the eastern flank of the country.

In addition, BSF is also performing an anti-infiltration role in Kashmir Valley, apart from counter insurgency in the North East region, anti naxal operations in Odisha and Chhattisgarh states.

Indian Army has recently flagged that some of the terrorists in the Valley used American weaponry which the US forces left behind in Afghanistan. It clearly indicated the emerging threats in the Kashmir Valley.

CHALLENGE TO CENTRAL SCHEME

SC to hear petitions against rollout of Agnipath scheme next week

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

@ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Monday said that it would hear next week pleas challenging the Centre's "Agnipath" scheme for recruitment in the armed forces. A vacation bench of Justices Indira Banerjee and JK Maheshwari said that petitions will be listed next week before an appropriate bench upon reopening of the Supreme Court after summer vacation.

The counsel, who filed a plea against the scheme, said that Indian Air Force aspirants have undergone training and were waiting for appointment letters but now their career will be cut short from 20 years to four years. "This is an urgent matter, kindly list it. The careers of several aspirants are at stake," the counsel said.

Advocate ML Sharma, who has also filed a PIL challenging the scheme, said that he seeks cancellation of the government's notification pertaining to the scheme as more than 70,000 aspirants who have undergone training were waiting for their appointment letters before the pandemic and now their career has been shortened by scheme. The bench said that when you (Sharma) have waited for more than two years then why you are coming before the vacation bench. It listed Sharma's plea before the appropriate bench along with other matters. In the PIL, Sharma has alleged that the government has quashed the century-old selection process for the Armed Forces and it is contrary to the constitutional provisions.

The Agnipath scheme provides for the recruitment of youths for only four years with a provision to retain 25 per cent of them for 15 more years.

This was raised and discussed during the eighth Biennial Meeting of States on the implementation of the UN Programme of Action to Prevent, Combat and Eradicate the Illicit Trade in Small Arms and Light Weapons (SALW).

Navy proposes to develop 75 Made-in-India tech & products

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

@ New Delhi

PUTIN HIGHLIGHTS CORRIDOR TO INDIA

YESHI SELI @ Guwahati

THE Russian government is promoting a 7,200 km long trade route that would connect St Petersburg in Russia to ports in India like Nava Sheva in Mumbai and Mundra in Gujarat. This route will reduce the transportation time of goods from 40 days it takes at present (via Suez Canal) to 25 days.

A trial run on this route is being done at present, where a consignment of wood laminates is expected to land at one of the ports in India within the next few days. Sources point out that this trial began soon after Iran's foreign minister, Hossein Amir-Abdollahian, visited India last month.

The INSTC corridor is 7,200 km long and will provide routes through ship, rail and road routes interlinking India, Afghanistan, Central Asia, Iran, Azerbaijan and Russia.

"The route appears like this. A container goes overland from St Petersburg to Astrakhan (southern Russia). Then the cargo sails via the Caspian sea to the Iranian port of Bandar Anzeli and then transported overland to the port of Bandar Abbas. After this it takes the sea route to reach Nava Sheva, the largest seaport of India. The main operators will be Iran and Russia," say sources.

Russian Federation President, Vladimir Putin, has been promoting this route.

"We think a lot needs to be done to improve the transport and logistics architecture of the region. First of all, we are talking about building the INSTC which our colleagues have talked about. If fully agree with these approaches. This is a truly ambitious project, a 7,200-kilometre-long transport artery from St Petersburg to ports in Iran and India," said President of Russian Federation, Vladimir Putin, during the 6th Caspian Summit held in Ashgabat. The Caspian Summit was attended by leaders of its five members Russia, Azerbaijan, Iran, Kazakhstan and Turkmenistan.

Some experts say that INSTC could be a viable alternative to China's Belt and Road Initiative (BRI) as India's geopolitical strategy will be in sync with this corridor. Besides, India has smooth access to Chabahar and its freight forwarding facilities which is crucial to INSTC's viability.

One will have to wait and see whether this route would be viable for import of crude, or other goods that are exchanged between Russia, India, Iran and other countries enroute.

As of now, Russia is India's main supplier of defence hardware and now there has been a surge in oil imports due to heavy discounts Russia is offering discounts in the range of $35 per barrel.

'Emotional' Murmu says PM Modi convinced her to become President candidate

NDA's presidential candidate Droupadi Murmu being welcomed upon her arrival at Birsamunda International Airport, in Ranchi, Monday | EXPRESS

MUKESH RANJAN @ Ranchi

NDA presidential candidate Droupadi Murmu after getting emotional said that she is connected to Jharkhand by blood as her grandmother belonged to the state. While addressing the MLAs and MPs belonging to NDA fold in Ranchi, Murmu also recalled that how after announcement of her candidature she expressed her apprehension before Prime Minister Narendra Modi that whether she will be able to do justice to the responsibilities of first woman of this Country, to which, the Prime Minister responded, "The Constitution will guide and show you the right path."

"Prime Minister Modi told me that the way you groomed Jharkhand while being Governor of the State, I am confident that you will also be able to fulfill this responsibility quite efficiently," said Murmu in her address to legislators and parliamentarians belonging to BJP and AJSU. PM Modi had told this to her after she expressed her apprehension whether she would be able to fulfill the responsibilities of the President of India, she added.

"PM Modi also assured me that I need not worry as entire Country is with me," said Murmu. She also told NDA legislators and parliamentarians that she is connected to Jharkhand by blood as her grandmother was from here and she feels special for the state. Appealing the legislators and parliamentarians to support her candidature in presidential polls, Murmu told that whatever she could do for Jharkhand she did while being the Governor of this State. Later, Murmu surprised everyone by meeting JMM Chief Shibub Soren and his son Chief Minister Hemant Soren seeking support for her. She was also welcomed by the Soren duo at CM's residence. Though, the JMM is yet to decide on supporting Murmu or Yashwant Sinha, but the delay in its decision despite showing its inclination is a matter of speculation.

Reacting on the meeting of Droupadi Murmu with Shibub Soren and Hemant Soren, state Congress chief Rajesh Thakur said that if the JMM keeps away from the UPA candidate in presidential polls, it would not give a good message to the people of Jharkhand.

Mehbooba's daughter looks set to join politics

Iltija Mufti decides to help her mother run a weakened PDP

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

THE political landscape of Jammu and Kashmir is set to witness another rise of a dynasty. Iltija Mufti, the daughter of PDP chief and former J&K Chief Minister Mehbooba Mufti, has decided to help her mother run the party weakened by desertions post revocation of Article 370.

The PDP recently released a 2.20-minute video of the 35-year-old Iltija, the younger daughter of Mehbooba, from its twitter handle with the hashtag #AapKiBaatIltijaKeSaath. In the video, she talks about the migrant Kashmiri Pandits, Amarnath Yatra and closure of schools by the government.

It was for the first time since the release of her mother Mehbooba Mufti from detention that Iltija has come on the political scene.

Iltija has been active since the arrest of her mother following the abrogation of Article 370 and 35A that led to the bifurcation of J&K by Centre on August 5, 2019. She has appeared on national and international media opposing the removal of J&K's special status.

She also took over the twitter account of her mother and operated it until her mother's release 14 months after her detention in October 2020.

Iltija, who is a postgraduate in International Relations, possesses good oratorical skills. She was expected to plunge into politics sometime after the release of her mother.

However, a senior PDP leader said Iltija was reluctant to join politics until last year. Since then, however, her mother had been persuading her to join active politics.

"Mehbooba thinks that when she can appeal to the youth to join mainstream politics, then why can't she start it from home," said the senior party leader. PDP sources said after her mother's persuasion, Iltija has agreed to join politics, but she does not want to join directly.

"She wants to create her own space and have some face value in politics before plunging into active politics of J&K despite the fact that she is a daughter of Mehbooba and grand-daughter of PDP patron and former CM Mufti Mohammad Sayeed," said a party source.

Party insiders said Iltija has been regularly interacting with the party's youth leaders and giving suggestions and ideas on how to strengthen the party and increase its support base, especially in south Kashmir, which was once the party's stronghold.

A wave of desertions hit the PDP after abrogation of J&K special status. It remains to be seen whether Iltija's move would strengthen the PDP or further weaken it in the face of criticism about the party promoting dynastic politics.

Digital India has curbed corruption, eliminated middlemen, says PM Modi

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA
@ Ahmedabad

INCREASED digitisation has struck a blow on corruption, Prime Minister Narendra Modi said on Monday while kicking off the Digital India Week 2022 in Gandhinagar.

"Digital India campaign will continue to grow in the country. It will be connected closely to the lives of the common man," Modi said, adding that the government's thrust on digitisation has given relief to the poor from corruption. "It is working to eliminate middlemen," he further said.

Modi talked about how India lost by not adopting modern technology during the third industrial revolution, and said the scenario is different today, since the country is not just a part of the fourth industrial revolution but is leading it.

Enumerating the benefits of digitalization, the PM said 'Digital India' has made life easy for everyone. "For those born in the 21st century, it may sound routine. But earlier, you could see queues everywhere — to take the birth certificate, to submit bills, procure rations and certificates, or manage bank accounts. We solved the line (queue) system by going online," he said, emphasising that now, rural residents also get most services at the village level. "We are now working on digital mapping of rural properties using drones and other such devices," Modi added.

The prime minister also spoke about how the volume of digital transactions in India is catching the world's eye. "In the last eight years, more than Rs 23 lakh crore have been transferred to beneficiaries through Direct Benefit Transfers. With this technology, around Rs 2.23 lakh crore, which went to the wrong hands, got saved," he said, talking about how technology has helped people in multiple ways. "More than 500 kids have been united with their families due to use of technology," he said.

Taking a jibe at the Opposition, the PM said, "The world is discussing how we managed to give Covid-19 vaccination certificates to people just after they got jabbed, but some people were focused on why there is Modi's photo on these certificates," he said.

During the programme, Modi launched several digital initiatives aimed at improving technology accessibility, streamlining service delivery to ensure ease of living, and assisting startups

Putin declares victory in Donbas

Russian President made capturing the entire eastern region a key goal in his war in Ukraine

POKROVSK

RUSSIAN President Vladimir Putin on Monday declared victory in the eastern Ukrainian region of Luhansk, one day after Ukrainian forces withdrew from their last remaining bulwark of resistance in the province.

Russia's Defense Minister Sergei Shoigu reported to Putin in a televised meeting Monday that Russian forces had taken control of Luhansk, which together with the neighboring Donetsk province makes up Ukraine's industrial heartland of Donbas.

Shoigu told Putin that "the operation" was completed on Sunday after Russian troops overran the city of Lysychansk, the last stronghold of Ukrainian forces in Luhansk. Putin, in turn, said that the military units "that took part in active hostilities and achieved success, victory" in Luhansk, "should rest, increase their combat capabilities." He ordered Russian troops to press their offensive deeper into the Donbas region of eastern Ukraine after Moscow's forces seized the strategic city of Lysychansk.

Luhansk governor Serhii Haidai said on Monday that Ukrainian forces had retreated from the city to avoid being surrounded. "There was a risk of Lysychansk encirclement," Haidai told the AP, adding that Ukrainian troops could have held on for a few more weeks but would have potentially paid too high a price. "We managed to do centralised withdrawal and evacuate all injured," Haidai said. "We took back all the equipment, so from this point withdrawal was organized well."

The Ukrainian General Staff said Russian forces were now focusing their efforts on pushing toward the line of Siversk, Fedorivka and Bakhmut in the Donetsk region, about half of which is controlled by Russia. The Russian army has also intensified its shelling of the key Ukrainian strongholds of Sloviansk and Kramatorsk, deeper in Donetsk. An intelligence briefing Monday from the British Defense Ministry supported the Ukrainian military's assessment, noting that Russian forces will "now almost certainly" switch to capturing Donetsk. Politics is a no-go area for military, says Army Chief

ISLAMABAD

PAKISTAN Army chief General Qamar Javed Bajwa has issued fresh directions to his commanders and officers, including from the ISI, to stay away from politics after leaders of ousted prime minister Imran Khan-led party alleged that some officials of the country's intelligence agency were trying to "manipulate" the upcoming by-elections in Punjab, according to a media report on Monday.

Pakistan Army had earlier said that it has nothing to do with politics and it would remain apolitical in the future as well.

Chief of the Army Staff (COAS) General Bajwa has issued fresh directions to all his commanders and key officers to stay away from politics and avoid interacting with politicians, The News newspaper reported.

These directions have been given in the wake of Imran Khan-led Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf's propaganda against the military establishment alleging certain ISI officials of trying to manipulate the upcoming by-elections in Punjab to the disadvantage of the party, the report said.

PTI leader and former health minister Punjab Yasmin Rashid recently named the sector commander and alleged him of having been involved in politics to manipulate by-elections in Punjab.

Former foreign minister and Deputy Chairman of PTI Shah Mehmood Qureshi had alleged that some invisible forces are active to influence the by-elections in the province against the party. Recently, former PM Khan also alleged that some of his candidates have complained to him of receiving telephone calls from unknown numbers.

Months back, operatives of the country's top intelligence agency, the ISI, were strictly directed to stay away from politics. PTI

Trial of a disappeared tycoon begins in China

BEIJING

CANADIAN-Chinese tycoon Xiao Jianhua is standing trial on Monday, Ottawa's embassy in Beijing said in a statement, after the businessman disappeared from a Hong Kong hotel five years ago.

Xiao vanished from Hong Kong's Four Seasons hotel in January 2017, with local media reporting that he was snatched by mainland Chinese agents—fueling fear at the time over Beijing's tightening influence in the financial hub.

The tycoon, one of China's richest people at the time of his disappearance, reportedly had close connections to the upper echelons of the ruling Communist Party.

Nothing more had been known about Xiao, who is a Canadian citizen, since his disappearance, until the embassy confirmed Monday that he was facing trial.

"Global Affairs Canada is aware that a trial in the case of Canadian citizen, Mr. Xiao Jianhua, will take place on July 4, 2022," the Canadian embassy told AFP, without specifying the location of the trial or charges against him.

"Canadian consular officials are monitoring this case closely, providing consular services to his family and continue to press for consular access."

Hong Kong police said at the time that he had crossed the border into mainland China.

His company Tomorrow Group also later said that he was in the mainland.

But Chinese authorities have been silent about the case, reportedly linked to an anti-corruption drive championed by President Xi Jinping since he came to power. Xiao's alleged abduction came at a time when mainland Chinese agents were not permitted to operate in Hong Kong. AFP

Govt keeping eye on volatile rupee, says FinMin official

Rupee hit an all-time low recently, breaching 79-mark against the US dollar. On widening CAD, the official said it is due to high oil prices

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

AMID concerns over tumbling rupee, a finance ministry official on Monday said the government is monitoring volatility in the Indian currency.

The rupee hit an all-time low recently, breaching 79-mark against the US dollar. On the widening current account deficit (CAD), the official, requesting anonymity, said it is due to high oil prices.

India's current account deficit hit a record high of $23.5 billion in May on account of higher commodity prices. Notably, in the month of June trade deficit further expanded to new high at $25.63 billion.

"When oil prices are high, CAD also goes up. For the past many years, India has been bridging the CAD gaps. This year there are challenges and we are addressing them," the official said. India imports 85% of oil for its energy needs and the supply constraints amid Russia-Ukraine war have

Government on fiscal consolidation path

With regard to the fiscal deficit, the official said the government is on fiscal consolidation path and it will achieve the target of 6.4% of the gross domestic product (GDP) this year. Recently govt imposed cess on petrol, diesel and ATF to put a curb on import bill further made oil dearer. According to the official, macroeconomic fundamentals and the foreign exchange reserves (forex) are now better as compared with the past.

Meanwhile, with regard to the fiscal deficit the official said the government is on fiscal consolidation path and it will achieve the target of 6.4% of the gross domestic product (GDP) this year.

Recently, the Centre imposed a cess of ₹23,250 per tonne on crude exports. Besides this, it also levied ₹6 per litre cess on the export of petrol and ATF and ₹13 per litre cess on the export of diesel with effect from July 1.

According to the official, new levies were imposed on these products as oil producers were making windfall gains by selling crude to international buyers at a time when India is importing oil at a high cost. He declined to comment on the impact of new levies on the overall revenue of the country.

IndiGo staff look for new jobs as stress takes toll

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

DEPRIVED of sleep and suffering from fatigue, IndiGo employees are actively looking for other opportunities.

Post Saturday's mass leave that irked aviation regulator DGCA as 55% of its flights got delayed, nearly half a dozen IndiGo pilots and cabin crew TNIE contacted said that the country's only profitable airline is operating like a factory, which doesn't value employees and provide little or no time to rest. "If a new airline is announced tomorrow requiring 20,000 cabin crew and 4,000 pilots, the whole of IndiGo staff would switch there," said a pilot who has been with the airline for over 5 years. According to industry sources, a majority of IndiGo's cabin crew members who took sick leave on Saturday were spotted at Air India's recruitment drive.

Another IndiGo pilot who is planning his resignation said that working hours have become very demanding and frequent posting at remote locations has angered many colleagues. "Once, a colleague was sent to a small town without any prior accommodation arrangement. This gave him tons of unwanted discomfort," he said. A senior cabin crew who has been with the airline for 4 years said their leaves have been shortened without giving them additional financial benefits. According to former senior employee at the airline, the single-biggest reason why many are resigning is because they were not treated well during the two-year pandemic. He added that forceful salary cut during covid-19 and the inhumane management style impacted employees' morale. In April, IndiGo suspended a few pilots who were planning to organise a strike to protest against pandemic related pay cuts, a first for the airline. According to sector experts, now that India's aviation industry is going through a structural change with Tata's taking over Air India and the new player Akasa is all set to fly, there is an increased demand for workforce in this sector. Mark Martin, founder and CEO of Martin Consulting, said the future prospect of Air India with the Tata Group is looking assuring. "It is very promising for pilots and cabin crew from a long term perspective as salaries here are going to be very balanced along with ethical work culture," he added. According to Martin, airlines that are not treating their employees' well can experience a mass exodus as Asia alone requires 180,000 pilots and 250,000 cabin crew at the moment. Query sent to IndiGo remained unanswered till this story was published.

FIN SERVICES, I.T. BEAR BRUNT OF FII SELLING STOCKS

RAM SAHGAL @ Mumbai

FINANCIAL services, IT and consumer durables bearing the brunt of outflows in the fortnight ended June 15, as FIIs have been selling Indian shares hand over fist in the fiscal year to date, latest data from NSDL show.

During the fortnight, FIIs sold $1.03 bn in the financial services, followed by $474 mn in the IT sector and $330 mn of consumer durables. Analysts said stocks affected by the FII selling in these sectors included Bajaj Finance, ICICI Bank and HDFC, which fell between 8.7% and 9.6%, and Wipro, which saw a 6.6% correction. Among consumer durables, Dixon Technologies and TTK Prestige corrected 11% each during the fortnight under review.

All these companies have significant FII stakes. In June, FIIs' total cash market sales were $6.4 bn, the highest since March 2020, when they sold a whopping $8.34 bn shares in response to the emergence of the pandemic. In the fiscal year to date (Apr-July), their sales have totted $14.24bn against sales of $18.46bn in the whole of FY22. "The selling in IT was on overvaluation concerns while financial services was impacted by over-ownership amid US raising interest rates to tame runaway inflation and the rupee weakening, which caused the outflows," said Rohit Srivastava, founder IndiaCharts. Analysts feel, going forward the reasonable valuations this fiscal could reduce the selling intensity of FIIs. HDFC, for instance, is down nearly 27% from its record high, while Bajaj Finance has corrected 30% and Wipro by 43%.

While the cash market sales of FIIs have spooked investors and the rupee, they have also been short in the equity derivatives segment.

FIIs' cumulative net bearish positions in index futures stand at 119,715 contracts. Along with cash sales, they've also been shorting index futures on a net basis. This has added to the market bearishness even as domestic institutional investor buying has kept the market from falling more sharply and made India a relative outperformer to some of Asia's leading indices.

Tata Steel completes acquisition of NINL

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE government has completed the strategic disinvestment of Nilachal Ispat Nigam (NINL) with the transfer of 93.7% stake to Tata Steel Long Products for the consideration of ₹12,100 crore, it said Monday.

Tata Group had earlier this year acquired Air India, the first privatisation by the Narendra Modi-led government.

NINL is a joint venture of 4 CPSEs, namely MMTC, NMDC, BHEL, MECON and two Odisha state PSUs - OMC and IPICOL. MMTC was the largest shareholder in NINL having 49.78% followed by NMDC at 10.8%, BHEL and MECON both at 0.68%. The enterprise value paid by the strategic buyer is ₹12,100 crore. This payment has been utilised as per the SPA (sale and purchase agreement) for settlement of dues of employees, operational creditors, secured financial creditors and sellers and for equity of selling shareholders as per SPA," the government release said. The share purchase agreement was signed on March 10 this year, after which NINL and the 6 selling shareholders worked towards satisfying a set of conditions defined in the SPA including certification of operational creditor's dues and sellers' operational dues and sellers' financial dues. These conditions have since been met to mutual satisfaction, the government added.

H2 will be better than H1: Tata Motors Chairman

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

HOME-GROWN auto major Tata Motors expects the second half of financial year 2023 to be better in terms of performance with gradual improvement in overall supply situation and stabilisation in commodity prices.

"The overall supply situation, including that of semiconductors, is gradually improving and commodity prices are stabilising... Accordingly, expect performance to progressively improve through the year with the second half of FY23 being notably better than the first half," said Tata Motors chairman N Chandrasekaran during the company's 77th annual general meeting.

The chairman noted that demand for the company's vehicles across segments remained robust despite various external challenges. He stated that history will record the last few years as relentless -- a global pandemic that refuses to go away, record high inflation, unfortunate military conflict, rising geopolitical risks and unprecedented supply chain challenges. On the company's domestic business, Chandrasekaran noted that while the overall industry volumes grew by 15% last fiscal, the company's domestic business grew by 49% by volumes and 11.5% by revenues.

'Highest 28% GST slab to stay, GoM recommendations to come in month'

New Delhi: The government will continue with the top GST slab of 28% for luxury and sin goods, but is open to discuss narrowing down the three slabs of 5, 12 and 18% into two, Revenue Secretary Tarun Bajaj said on Monday. Addressing an ASSOCHAM event here, Bajaj said 5 years after its rollout, policymakers don't have a "fetish" to raise the tax rates to the revenue-neutral level of 15.5%, and the rate rationalisation exercise is a result of introspection on GST. On the industry demand for bringing petroleum products under GST net, Bajaj said since fuel constitutes a major part of their revenues, both the Centre and states have some apprehension that bringing these products under the GST ambit will impact their revenues. Bajaj said the panel of state finance ministers on setting up a GST Appellate Tribunal is likely to give its recommendation within a month. The GST Council, comprising finance minister Nirmala Sitharaman and state ministers, had last week decided to constitute a Group of Ministers (GoM) to address various issues raised by the states with regards to formation of the Goods and Services Tax Appellate Tribunal (GSTAT). He added that the Council will come up with the Terms of Reference (ToR) and names of the members of the GoM soon. ENS

Trade deficit hits fresh high in June on coal, gold, oil imports

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

INDIA'S trade deficit hit a fresh high in June at $25.63 billion, surpassing the previous record of $24.5 billion in May, according to the government data released on Monday.

While imports increased by 51% year-on-year (YoY) to $63.6 billion, exports grew only by 16.8% to $38 billion.

The trade deficit majorly burgeoned on account of high coal imports, which witnessed a growth of 242%, followed by gold and petroleum at 169% and 94.2%, respectively.

Meanwhile, April-June quarter recorded 22% growth in exports and 47.31% in imports on a YoY basis. Besides this, value of non-petroleum imports was at $42.84 billion in June 2022 with a positive growth of 36.36% over $31.42 billion in June 2021. Also, non-oil and non-gold, silver and precious metals imports also grew YoY by 31.71% to $36.7 billion. Commenting on the record-high trade deficit, Aditi Nayyar, chief economist at ICRA, said, "Despite an expected fall in the gold imports, the merchandise trade deficit widened further to a worrying $25.6 billion in June 2022, with a sequential dip in exports and a rise in the non-gold imports relative to May 2022." "With a steady uptick in the size of merchandise trade deficit in the quarter, we expect current account deficit to more than double to $30 billion in Q1 FY2023, from the modest $13 billion in the previous quarter."

June household spends see highest dip in 3 months

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

OVERALL household spending in June has increased for 59% of families, which reflects a 2% dip from last month, according to India Consumer Sentiment Index (CSI) by Axis My India.

The report, released on Monday, reveals that consumption of both essentials & non-essentials continued to dip, a trend seen in the past three months. June, however, saw the highest dip in three months.

remain same for 37% of the families, which is an increase by 4% from last month, says the report. Spending, however, has increased for 44% of the families, which reflects a dip by 2% (i.e. 46%) from last month.

The sentiment analysis is based on five categories -- overall household spending, spending on essential and non-essential items, spending on healthcare, media consumption habits & mobility trends.

The report shows that spending on non-essential & discretionary products like AC, car, and refrigerator remains the same for 88% of families, reflecting an increase of 2% from last month.

Pradeep Gupta, Chairman &

MD, Axis My India, said, "Over time, consumer spending has reached a status quo bias where the keenness to increase consumption has been limited."

"This is mainly due to inflation and the after effects of pandemic, which has made it difficult for consumers to see their nominal incomes recover to pre-pandemic levels. While in response to this, the government has reduced the petrol and diesel prices, a major chunk of consumers are still looking for further ease," Gupta added.

Crypto platform Vault suspends withdrawals, trading and deposits

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

CRYPTO lending platform Vault on Monday suspended all withdrawals, trading and deposits on its platform citing volatile market conditions and financial difficulties of its key business partners.

This announcement comes within two weeks of reducing its headcount by about 30%. Headquartered in Singapore, with a product and tech office in India, the crypto platform was started in 2018.

Darshan Bathija, CEO, Vault, said in a blog post that the current market climate has led to a significant amount of customer withdrawals in excess of $197.7 million since 12 June 2022. The decline of the cryptocurrency market was triggered by the collapse of Terraform Labs' UST stablecoin, Celsius network pausing withdrawals and Three Arrows Capital defaulting on their loans.

Vault is also considering potential restructuring options. It has engaged the services of Kroll Pte Limited as its financial advisor, as well as Cyril Amarchand Mangaldas and Rajah & Tann Singapore LLP as its legal advisors in India and Singapore, respectively.

The crypto exchange is in discussions with potential investors into the Vault group of companies. It is also planning to apply to the Singapore courts for a moratorium.

Backed by Coinbase Ventures, Vault while laying off its employees had said that with its team of over 100 employees the platform is going to ship significant products this year. Vault serves over 8 lakh clients. Interestingly, only a fortnight ago, the exchange said it will soon ship significant products and announced its plan for the next six months.

The crypto industry has been struggling with a 30% tax on gains, crypto winter and 1% TDS. Edul Patel, CEO and co-founder of Mudrex, a global crypto investment platform, told TNIE that the past few months have been a bit troubling for the cryptocurrency spectrum. "A few simultaneous instances, such as a hedge fund liquidation and stablecoin depegging, provided fodder for the crisis. It pushed some exchanges and platforms against the wall. However, with the space gradually maturing, we will likely see appropriate checks and balances in place," he added.

US court confirms $140 million penalty on Tata Consultancy

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

THE US District Court in the western district of Wisconsin passed an order reducing the jury award of punitive damages to $140 million slapped on Tata Consultancy Services (TCS). Earlier, the IT services company had been told to pay $280 million in punitive damages.

In 2014, Epic Systems filed a lawsuit alleging TCS had stolen its intellectual property. The US-based firm had alleged that TCS employees stole important data containing its system development information.

It alleged that they used a fake user account.

The US district court has directed the Clerk of the Court to file an amended judgement accordingly, TCS said in a filing on Monday.

TCS is legally advised that it has strong arguments in its favour before the Appeal Court and the Order on the punitive damages are not supported by the facts presented by TCS before the Trial Court.

"We have been advised that the Order and the Judgement (when issued) is appealable to the US Court of Appeals, 7th Circuit Chicago. The Company did not misuse or derive any benefit from EPIC's documents and plans to defend its position vigorously before the Appeal Court," TCS said.

Epic won a jury award in 2016 for $940 million. Next year, the amount was lowered to $420 million. Last year, a US Court of Appeals reduced damages to $140 million, and this has been now formalised.

Edtech company BYJU'S closes Aakash deal payments

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

EDTECH firm BYJU'S on Monday said it closed payments to tutorial chain Aakash Educational Services. The edtech firm had acquired Aakash for about $1 billion last year.

BYJU'S spokesperson said, "Our payments to Aakash are closed and the audited financial results are going to be announced in the next 10 days." Last week, there were reports saying that the edtech platform has been delaying payments, and has sought an extension. The company had said that the acquisition process of Aakash is fully on track and all payments are expected to be completed by the agreed upon date i.e., August 2022. The edtech giant also said that its fundraising is on track. "Our fundraising efforts are on track and the majority of the $800 million has been already received. The balance is also expected soon." In March this year, the company said it had raised $800 million in a round and close to $400 million was contributed by CEO Byju Raveendran. Sumeru Ventures, BlackRock and Vitruvian Partners participated in the round, and it valued the company at about $22 billion. During the fundraising round, Byju Raveendran said, "We continue to witness accelerated growth in India and global markets via both organic and inorganic routes. Our sustained focus is on achieving our long-term goals around creating life-long value for our learners."

Arsenal have completed the signing of Manchester City forward Gabriel Jesus for a fee of around $54 million, the London club announced on Monday. In another transfer involving champions City, they completed the signing of England midfielder Kalvin Phillips for $53 million.

Renuka steps up as India seal series against Sri Lanka

GOMESH S @Chennai

RENUKA Singh Thakur initially broke into the Indian team for her T20 bowling skills during the tour of Australia in 2021. She was someone who could swing it into the right hander and had a good yorker up her arsenal. It showed in the two T20Is she played against Australia then. But her impressive performances in the senior one-dayers and challengers meant she had booked a seat in the flight to New Zealand.

In the senior T20 league and Women's T20 Challenge that followed, she had very little to show. But on her comeback to the side for the Sri Lanka tour, Renuka was chipping in with wickets in the format that suits her best — T20s.

As the ODIs came along, there was still a bit of a question mark. Renuka stepped up in the first game to register her then career-best of 3/29. On Monday, in the second ODI, Renuka picked up from where she left off on Friday. It took her just four deliveries to remove Hasini Perera as Renuka broke the southpaw's defence, hitting the top of off-stump.

Then followed Vishmi Gunarathne, who lost the stumps to Renuka. She did not stop there as Harshitha Samarawickrama was trapped on the pads on the very first delivery of her fourth over. Renuka reduced the hosts to 12/3 and with Meghna Singh getting the prized scalp of Athapaththu shortly after, Lanka slumped further before scraping their way to 173. Renuka picked up one more in the death overs, to better her career-best (4/28) from the last match.

Brief scores: Sri Lanka 173 all out in 50 ovs (Renuka 4/28) lost to India 174/0 in 25.4 ovs (Smriti 94 n.o., Shafali 71 n.o.).

JONNY, ROOT OF ALL PROBLEMS

After India set a target of 378 to level series, hosts end Day 4 at 259/3 with both batters set

VENKATA KRISHNA B @Chennai

THE Edgbaston Test is heading for a gripping end on Day 5. At a venue where no team has scored more than 283 to win a Test (there has only been two instances of teams successfully chasing 200 or above), England are 259/3 in pursuit of 378 to level the Pataudi Trophy 2-2.

On a pitch that hasn't seen much of deterioration and a forecast of sun for the last two days and given England's approach, it was always going to come down to how much India thought would be safe. Resuming from their overnight score of 125/3, thanks to another fifty from Rishabh Pant, the visitors made 245 in their second innings. However, given the conditions and how they lost the wickets of Cheteshwar Pujara, Shreyas Iyer and Pant — all gifted their wickets in their own way — India will be hoping they haven't left few more runs on the pitch.

With England there will be pressure of going for the target, but the hosts who have nothing to lose from the Test. Alex Lees and Zak Crawley got them off to an excellent start. The left-right duo raced away on conditions which didn't offer much. Having kept Ravindra Jadeja away from bowling for 51 overs in the first innings, that India threw the ball to the left-arm spinner as early as ninth over told its own story. With runs flowing freely, he even bowled over the wicket to right-handers. However, the duo was unperturbed. Lees, in particular, played a fluent knock. And a change of ball in the 20th over brought India back into the game.

Having found little movement until then with the new ball, India found movement as Crawley departed after shouldering arms to Jasprit Bumrah with the ball hitting the top of off-stump. In the first over after tea, he had Ollie Pope caught behind. Then, Lees was run-out. Suddenly, India had three wickets just two runs. But, this is where England showed their different side. Instead of just going about steadying their ship with a safety first approach, Root and Jonny Bairstow, were daring enough to put the pressure on Indians as early as possible. Once they got the eye in, they kept the pressure on India as those spread-out fields and the leg-stump line from Jadeja — that was nowhere to be seen in the first innings — were on display. That the left-arm spinner still bowled only two maidens with that line over the wicket was perfect indication of how Indians struggled to contain.

Unless India get wickets, the hosts look on course to overhaul the target without any fuss.

SCOREBOARD : India 1st innings 416; England 1st Innings 284; India 2nd innings (Overtight 125/3): Pujara c Lees b Broad 66, Pant c Root b Leach 57, Iyer c Anderson b Potts 19, Jadeja b Stokes 23, Thakur c Crawley b Potts 4, Shami c Lees b Stokes 13, Bumrah c Crawley b Stokes 7, Siraj not out 2; Extras (b6, lb7, nb3, w3) 19; Total (all out in 81.5 ovs) 245; FoW: 153-4, 190-5, 198-6, 207-8, 230-8, 239-6; Bowling: Anderson 19-5-46-1, Broad 16-1-58-2, Potts 17-3-50-2, Leach 12-1-28-1, Stokes 11-5-0-33-4, Root 6-1-17-0; England 2nd Innings: Lees (run out) 56, Crawley 46 b Bumrah, Pope c Pant b Bumrah 0, Root (batting) 76, Bairstow (batting) 72, Extras (lb 7, nb 1, w 1) 9, Total (3 wickets, 57 ovs) 259; FoW: 1-107, 2-107, 3-109; Bowling: Bumrah 13-0-53-2, Shami 12-2-49-0, Jadeja 15-2-53-0, Siraj 10-6-4-0, Thakur 7-0-33-0.

Jeswin, Aishwarya miss cut, another chance on 8th

INDRANEEL DAS @Chennai

NONE of the three athletes who had trials conducted by the Athletics Federation of India to qualify for the World Championships in Oregon have met the selection criteria. The AFI has said that none of them met the standard and have not yet made the team including Arokia Rajiv, who was listed as a substitute to the injured, quarter-miler Amoj Jacob. Monday was the last day of confirmation for athletes for the Oregon event.

Even long jumper Jeswin

Aldrin, who had a best of 8.26m (excluding the wind assisted jump of 8.37m) this year, too did not cross the eight-metre mark. His best on Monday was 7.99m. Aishwarya Mishra, who had a stunning 51.18 second at the Federation Cup in April, too had a modest timing.

According to reports she clocked 53.15s (52s was the cut). At the inter-state athletics championships she was disqualified in the 400m. Aldrin too had a modest outing in inter-state in Chennai where he managed just 7.71m and the AFI qualification standard was listed at 8.10m during the trials. In the case of Rajiv, who was supposed to replace Amoj Jacob (injured during the inter-state athletics in Chennai), it was worse as he managed 47.89s.

According to the AFI, they didn't qualify for the Worlds, but they will give them one more opportunity on July 8. AFI president Adille Sumariwalla said that they will be given one more opportunity along with the trials for junior athletes in Patiala. "We don't want to deny them an opportunity to qualify and they are welcome to take one more trial," he said.

According to Sumariwalla, the athletes did perform well. Even Arokia, who was to replace Jacob, will not be considered for the time being. "He has run 47+ seconds, which is what our top junior athletes run," he said.

"We cannot justify taking him. More than a dozen ran below 47s at the inter-state in 400m. He has to run below 47 at least. Same with the case of Aishwarya. She could have run below 53s at least. Even Jeswin. But we will give them one more opportunity. If they want they can take trials on July 8."

India face China in second WC game

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

@Chennai

AFTER a creditable 1-1 draw with England in their World Cup opener, India have a big chance to consolidate their place in Pool B with a good result against China on Tuesday.

India had several chances against England — if their penalty corner conversion was slightly better (one from six), they could have gone away with three points. In fact, they could have had a field goal through Sharmila Devi but her effort was off radar. What was pleasing about the match from their perspective was their defensive performance. England found no joy in the attacking third. End result? Zero penalty corners conceded.

Sunday's results: Pool A: Germany 1-3 Netherlands. Pool B: India 1-1 England. Pool C: South Korea 3-2 Canada, Spain 1-4 Argentina. Pool D: Belgium 4-1 South Africa. Tuesday's matches: Pool A: Ireland vs Chile. Pool B: India vs China, New Zealand vs England. Pool D: Japan vs South Africa, Belgium vs Australia.

Back on his best behaviour after his stormy and bitter third-round win over Stefanos Tsitsipas, the Australian came through 4-6, 6-4, 7-6 (2), 3-6, 6-2. Eight years after making his first Wimbledon quarterfinal, the 27-year-old will take on Chile's Cristian Garin. Jabeur has shot at history

Among Tuesday's matches, one of the most keenly followed

After B'loru boy M P Jagruth won gold and silver medals at the All-India Karate Championship 2022, he shares his wish to represent India in the next Olympics

'Sensei'-sational win

ISHRATH MUBEEN

It all started with his love for the movie The Karate Kid and his dad's training sessions that culminated in Bengaluru boy M P Jagruth winning a gold medal at the All-India Karate Championship 2022 held in Pune recently. A national medalist for the last five consecutive years, Jagruth developed an interest in karate at the age of seven. "I would accompany my father to the classes he would conduct and be fascinated by the sport. This was one of the reasons I took up karate. He is my inspiration," he says.

The All-India Karate Championship 2022 was held in Pune from June 16 to 19. "In addition to a gold medal in the 16-17 years category, this is the first time I participated in the Senior Kata and won a silver medal in the championship," he says. A student of Class 11, Jagruth has watched Jaden Smith-starrer The Karate Kid several times. "The movie is one of my all-time favourites and holds a special place in my karate journey," he says.

How does he strike a balance between his studies and practice sessions? "My day starts at 4.30 am. I have three karate sessions, making it three-four hours of practice each day, five days a week. My mother starts the day with me so I am not alone. Having their support is very encouraging and makes me want to do everything to make them proud," says the 16-year-old champion. Jagruth's total medal tally in nationals to date is six golds, two silvers and one bronze medal. With an inclination towards karate and medicine, Jagruth wants to pursue sports medicine to be able to treat injured sportsmen. "Karate is underrated and needs to be brought to the spotlight. In my karate journey, I realised that practice does make a man perfect. I hope I can represent India in the upcoming Olympics," says Jagruth, a second-degree black belt.

The champion's father, M G Prashada, who is also a karate player and coach says his son worked hard to reach where he is now. "He grew up with a passion for the sport. He is not just great at the sport but is also a bright student. He works hard and will one day make the nation proud," he says.

Jagruth is also preparing for the upcoming Commonwealth Karate Championship that will be held in Birmingham this September, followed by the World Karate Championship in Turkey this October and the Asian Karate Championship in Uzbekistan at the end of this year.

My day starts at 4.30 am. I have three karate sessions making it three-four hours of practice each day, five days a week. My mother starts the day with me so I am not alone

BANKING ON SUCCESS

From Udupi to 10 Downing Street—city-based investment banker-turned politician Anil Shetty, who recently rubbed shoulders with UK's PM Boris Johnson and Finance Minister Rishi Sunak, gives CE a sneak-peek into his life

MONIKA MONALISA

S PILLING some beans about Boris Johnson, Anil Shetty, a city-based entrepreneur who recently met him, says, "He has a typical way of addressing Indian Prime Minister Narendra Modi." Shetty was at the Indian Global Forum, hosted by Manoj Ladwa, a close aide to the Prime Minister of the UK. He playfully describes the UK's PM as the 'Ranveer Singh of London'. "He is always on a high-energy mode and is an extremely charismatic person," says Shetty, as he goes on to imitate Johnson's way of speaking.

At the forum, Shetty also had a chance to interact with Rishi Sunak, Finance Minister of the UK and son-in-law of Infosys founder Narayana Murthy. "I was invited to speak on the subject of startup matchmaking. It draws from my experiences as a banker, especially how I get founders and investors to agree with each other," explains Shetty. He describes Sunak as the complete opposite of Johnson. "Rishi is more sophisticated and maintains that elegance while speaking and is very mindful of what he says. I happened to mention Kiran Mazumdar-Shaw and he immediately responded, 'Yes, she hosted my sangeet'. He also went ahead and complimented my tie," he recalls, adding that he got along with Sunak very well since he shared a similar career path with him — investment banker-turned-politician.

Shetty's road to 10 Downing Street hasn't been easy. Born in a remote village of Karnataka called Shankaranarayana which comes under the Udupi district, he had no money to go to school as his family was below the poverty line. "I used to study with a kerosene lamp, and there were days when I had to close my books if the kerosene got over," he recalls. He worked with his uncle to sponsor his engineering course. At the age of 21, he quit everything and decided to join ISKCON for six months and recited the Bhagavad Gita, which he considers his guiding force.

Things took a turn in 2015, as he cracked his first banking deal for the brand Licious, which turned into a unicorn. He then tasted success as an investment banker. In 2020, he joined the Bharatiya Janata Party and is a candidate from the BTM constituency.

Shetty is quite clear about one thing, owing to his background — and that is doing philanthropic work. "I only knew one thing: one must rightfully earn money and spend meaningfully. If I want to buy a pair of shoes for ₹1 lakh, I will go ahead and buy it, but at the same time, I will also contribute money to something that will make an impact," says Shetty, who lives by the philosophy that a person should not change, only the positions should.

I used to study with a kerosene lamp, and there were days I had to close my books if the kerosene got over. Today, if I want to buy a pair of shoes for ₹1 lakh, I will go ahead and buy it, but at the same time, I will also contribute money to something that will make an impact — Anil Shetty, politician

FIT BIT

ARDHA RAJAKAPOTASANA (HALF KING PIGEON POSE)

This simple first stage of Half King Pigeon Pose is considered an intermediate level pose, which requires some flexibility at the hips and back. A proper understanding of the stretch of the various muscles in the practice of this pose is important to get the maximum benefit from this without causing any injury to the hip as they flex deep. It relieves stress and anxiety. Gives a deep stretch to the entire hip and the back.

STEPS

- Sit in a kneeling position or Vajrasana (Thunderbolt Pose). Place your hands beside our body, two feet apart or at shoulder length with palms touching the ground.
- Inhale and raise your upper body backward.
- Then, spread the knees out, ensuring the shoulder-length gap between the knees.
- Bend your left leg upward at the knee point.
- Make sure that your right leg is stretched straight on the floor with toes touching the floor.
- Now, stretch the raised left leg and touch your head with your left foot.
- Straighten your hands on the floor next to your hips. Inhale, raise your head still backward and open the chest.
- Fix your gaze towards the sky, breath slowly, deeply, and stay in the pose for 30-60 seconds.
- Release the pose and repeat the same steps on the other side.

LIMITATIONS

People with knee or hip injury should avoid the pose. Slowly practise under the guidance of a yoga expert.

Take a support cushion for extensive comfort.

If you have had recent hip surgery or muscle tear around the area, avoid this.

BENEFITS

- Extends the legs and the crotch muscles.
- Hips and chest are opened up.
- Helps you ace Padmasana (lotus pose) as it lessens the torment when you sit in Padmasana.
- Spiritually, it is associated with Ajna (third eye) Chakra.
- It can relieve stress on back muscles.
- Reduces sciatica and belly fat, and tones the abdomen.
- Recommended for people with high blood pressure, sciatica, infertility, insomnia and sinusitis.
- Stretches and strengthens the spine, hip flexors, groins, hamstrings and thigh muscles.
- Improves flexibility and stimulates the abdominal and reproductive organs.

Actor & stand-up comedian Ashvin Matthew on his role in the upcoming Malayalam film Saturday Night...

ROLE PLAY

ISHRATH MUBEEN

FROM making his directorial debut in 3Devi to playing a principal character in English Vinglish that people remember to date, actor Ashvin Matthew has a wide range of experience. Now, Matthew is prepping for his upcoming Malayalam film Saturday Night which revolves around the journey four friends take after a chain of events during and after college. The film is directed by Rossan Andrews, maker of Kayamkulam Kochunni. Saturday Night stars Nivin Pauly, Saiju Kurup, Siju Wilson and Aju Varghese as the protagonists. Matthew plays the role of a Kannadiga who goes to college with Malayalees and speaks Malayalam with a Kannada accent. "Tangu uncle (my granddad's friend) is a Malayali who grew up in Hassan. He spoke the strangest Malayalam I had ever heard. I just channelled him and the director loved my work," he says. Excitement for acting began at the age of eight for actor Matthew. Whether a family get-together or a party, every event would conclude with his mimicry performance. With his parents and uncles living abroad, Matthew was the only link they had with his grandparents in India. "I would mimic my grandmother and grandfather.

The biggest encouragement for me was performing at home," Matthew says. It was the first time he experienced three different sequences in the shoot for three consecutive days. "The first day was a serious sequence, the second was a dance sequence, and the third day was a fight sequence. It is amazing to see a director who knows all his shots," he says. Back in school, Matthew played Charlie Chaplin in a mono act and stole the show. "During the act, I fell off the stairs because of the extremely long trousers I was wearing. Everyone thought it was a part of the act and applauded my acting skills. I came first," he says. A few years later, a conversation with a friend proved to be a turning point. "During the black-out before the play Restless: The Spirit of Youth, a kid asked me if I was nervous and I answered 'no'. And the whole time I was waiting for my part in the play, I sat there wondering why I said what I said. I was excited but not nervous. That's when I decided I would take up performing arts and not get into the medical college," he says. Matthew still remembers his first role in a film. "The fact that I did an audition and got it feels great. It felt like an accomplishment after years of stand-up comedy, voice recording and voice-overs. It was a movie with Sridevi and I had to play a scene with the actor. It was surreal and I spent hours in a corner trying to let it sink in," says Matthew, who will soon start the pre-production of a Malayalam film Tenkasi Brothers Private Limited.

THERAPY, I am told, is normal for our smart new Gen Z. Not the retail sort, but the one that frazzles the nerves. What gives? Why is our brave young generation battling the Big D? Besides anxiety and bipolar symptoms. Visiting a therapist is de rigueur for our gadget-savvy youngsters, ostensibly in control of every tech challenge, but in a panic attack at the drop of an emoticon. Bone china. Fragile. Handle With Care. For an old-timer like me, the great depression is a tad difficult to understand, and almost always linked to life events like death, heartbreak and maybe, divorce. Life has its ups and downs, the trick lies in bouncing back from the troughs, we were told by our parents. And fast. Prolonged wallowing in self-pity was frowned upon, so we hid our hearts and grew tough. I made an honest attempt to understand what this new disorder is, and asked my daughter, rather gingerly, whether she and her friends had any D symptoms. Everyone gets them, it's the blues, she told me patronisingly. When the blues come and refuse to depart, that's depression. It happens because they have problems, usually family problems. And no, I don't need therapy. I'm a happy girl, thank you... Thank God for that! But it turns out that many of her friends and acquaintances do visit therapists, and quite regularly too. Whatever for, I asked her. She told me that I sounded like an unsympathetic matron who had no understanding of young people's feelings. I told her we lived in times when any aberrations were labelled 'crack' and 'loose screw' and left at that. Healing, if any, happened. Now, everyone seems to have feelings and sentiments, especially the religious kind, and most often, they are hurt. We live in a hurtful era, it seems.

Battling the blues

Increasingly, I find myself coming across young people (mostly from the feminine gender; I must admit) suffering from mental health issues, which have got legitimate diagnoses and recognition. In our days, they did not even have a name. Many utter the dreaded S-word – suicide – rather casually. With celebrities too having outed their disorders, making it somehow more normal, some even flaunt their illnesses on FB and other social media – but that's a different story. Handling these delicate beings takes a skill which we are yet to hone.

But as a generation watching this epidemic of sorts unfold, are we at fault? Have we handed down a legacy of family troubles they are unable to handle? Do they see reality through the prism of social media? Have we given them flawed idols, and set them unattainable standards? Why do they go to the edge and return, and what is the balm we can offer? A happy, jolly family could be one answer. A slower, cleaner lifestyle and a simple, calm world could be another. Until then, it's a walk on eggshells.

Of being alone & together

WHAT does it mean when a partner you have been with for a while starts to prefer being alone to being with you? Relationships are often shown to be places of perfect togetherness where everyone in the relationship is always wanting to be with the others, always prioritising moments of togetherness as much as possible, never avoiding any opportunities to be together. Beds are big and comfortable, and there is just the one nice quilt that shelters all. Love is love when lived under one cozy tent. Reality is often not that case. At the very least, people in love very quickly something personal, a slight directed at oneself, a deliberate action, and at the worst of it, a falling out of love. It can be really scary. Sometimes it might be all that, but most times, it is just the ebb and flow of how we want intimacy. When our needs for intimacy are quite satisfied, maybe some other need will take precedence for a while. Maybe the partner might want to focus on work, for instance, or a health concern, or anything else even if it might not seem important.

What matters is not whether someone moves away for a bit, but whether they come back to us often enough. The honeymoon doesn't last forever, nor should it. We have so much going on, and conjugal bliss cannot take all attention away from matters of everyday life. If the moving away goes on forever, and there's no sign of a return to assert the relationship and its importance, of course, it needs attention, but not otherwise. We each need time and space for ourselves and all of our other interests.

When we find we want to focus on other things, to be able to say it gently and reassuringly matters. Unfortunately, our social skills are not always on point, and we just drift away, or ghost people, or snap at a loved one looking for the attention they are used to receiving. Communication is key, and that's really all there is to it. If we can do that, we can be alone & together, happily in love.

LOVEOLOGY
 Mahesh Natarajan

(The author is a counsellor with InnerSight)

Together, every now and then, a loved one might pull away more than the other is comfortable. They might seek alone time, or even prefer the company of others rather than oneself. When it happens, it can hurt. It can feel like a rejection,

WEDDING GIFT IS ABOUT DOMESTIC VIOLENCE FROM MEN'S PERSPECTIVE

A SHARADHAA

VIKRAM Prabhu, a businessman, is finally realising his passion for filmmaking with his directorial debut, Wedding Gift. "It's thrilling court drama reflects problems between a couple and its impact on society. The film highlights the misuse of the law by a woman against her husband," says Vikram.

Vikram has previously assisted director Rajendra Singh Babu in Love (2004). "I worked for 6 to 7 months but later took up another profession as a medical representative. After travelling to a few countries, I finally settled in Bangalore in 2018," he shares.

Vikram's Wedding Gift has Sonu Gowda in a negative role and is paired alongside opposite Nishan Nanaiah. The thriller features Premma as a lawyer and Pavitra Lokesh and Achyuth Kumar in pivotal roles.

Wedding Gift is Balachandra Prabhu's first film as music di-

Vikram Prabhu

Producer and director Vikram Prabhu talks about making his debut as a director with a thriller, which will hit the theatres on July 8 rector, while Uday Leela has taken care of the cinematography.

Vikram was inspired by real-life cases to develop the film's story. "However, none of the cases are directly related to the story told in Wedding Gift. One of my friends committed suicide due to harassment due to a false case filed by his wife. It led me to research more about such issues. I consulted lawyers and learnt about the Indian Penal Code Sec 498A - a law that allows women to file cases against husbands and in-laws in case of domestic violence, which is a non-bailable offense. Such a law was passed in 1983 when women faced dowry harassment cases. However, it is misused by some women to extract money or blackmail their husbands. Wedding Gift is about one such story."

Vikram was also inspired by the Bollywood film, Section 375, starring Akshay Khanna and Richa Chadda. "There are many films about women facing violence and harassment, but not much related to husbands facing harassment. I thought I should make it. The story is about a woman trying to trap a man in a false case and how the husband tries to take revenge legally."

777 CHARLIE COMPLETES 25 DAYS IN 450 THEATRES ACROSS INDIA; JOINS ₹100 CRORE CLUB

CE FEATURES

RAKSHIT Shetty's pan-Indian film 777 Charlie has completed 25 days in 450 theatres across India and has received a good reception in the overseas market too. The makers celebrated the success in the presence of the cast and the dog Charlie in attendance. The team also officially announced that Kiran Raj's adventure drama has earned a 150-plus crore, collection, including the theatrical, satellite, and digital rights across languages.

A heartwarming tale of unconditional love between Dharma (played by Rakshit Shetty), and Charlie, the pet garnered attraction from all sectors of the audience and continues to run in theatres in the fourth week and is heading towards a 50-day run. 777 Charlie, marks the first 100-crore club film of Rakshit Shetty. "Personally, this is a big achievement. It was not just a cinema to me, but 3 years of experience, and it fetched a new audience," says Rakshit Shetty. The actor-producer has planned to share five per cent of the profit, which will go towards those, who are sheltering street dogs for their infrastructure, across India.

Kiranraj, speaking to CE said that he is overwhelmed with the stupendous response the film has received. "The digital rights in other languages are in demand, and we are in talks. Despite the film being multi-lingual, there are also inquiries for remaking the film in Hindi.

Apart from this, the distributors from China and Russia want to dub and release the film in their respective languages. "China considers releasing only 39 films of other languages, and 777 Charlie is one of them," says Kiranraj. 777 Charlie also stars Sangeetha Sringeri, Raj B. Shetty, Bobby Simha, and Danish Sait too star in the film.

'I WANTED TO DIRECT PUNEETH RAJKUMAR IN A SPORTS DRAMA'

Puneeth Rajkumar

KIRANRAJ has been approached by big production houses outside Karnataka. Meanwhile, he has two scripts in hand right now - a sports drama and a horror comedy, both planned to be made on a big canvas. "I was keen to direct Puneeth Rajkumar in the sports drama and wanted to approach him, after the release of 777 Charlie. I thought my first film would be my showreel to Puneeth Sir. I had even collected photos of Appu Sir in beard look. But it was unfortunate that we have lost the star. I am still thinking about an actor to fit the bill.

OTHTHA SERUPPU SIZE 7 HINDI REMAKE GETS A TITLE

GOPINATH RAJENDRAN

WE had previously reported that actor-director Parthiban, who starred and helmed the 2019 thriller film Oththa Seruppu

Size 7, is remaking the film in Hindi with Abhishek Bachchan. During the promotions for his upcoming film Iravin Nizhal, Parthiban shared that the Hindi remake of Oththa Seruppu is titled Single Slipper Size 7. Interestingly, the Tamil version was also titled Single Slipper Size 7 during its festive run.

Speaking about the film, Parthiban says, "I have added a few dialogues to infuse more terror to Abhishek Bachchan's character and they will add heroism to the character without making it too apparent. The film, despite being a remake, feels fresh, because as actors, there's a lot of difference when it comes to body language between Abhishek and me. Technically, the film will be much better when compared to the Tamil version. Ilaiyaraaja sir, who has seen the film, also felt the same."

Ajay Devgn to direct Kaithi remake Bholaa

CE FEATURES

AJAY Devgn will be donning the director's hat once again with Bholaa, a remake of the 2019 Tamil film Kaithi which was helmed by Lokesh Kanagaraj. Ajay, whose last directorial was Runway 34, has also directed U Me Aur Hum (2008) and Shivaay (2016).

Interestingly, when this film was announced in April, it was stated that Devgn's cousin, Dharmendra Sharma is directing the film. However, it now seems like the actor has taken over the reins.

Devgn is set to finish principal photography by August 20. Asked how he managed to shoot the film so quickly post the release of his April release Run- way 34, Ajay said, "Well the preparation was done earlier on. It was just a question of getting behind the camera again and saying the three magic words-Lights, camera, action!"

Bholaa tells the story of Dilli, a former convict, who tries to meet his daughter after being released from jail. However, his plans are thwarted because of a drug raid planned by an inspector. The original film, Kaithi starred Karthi along with Narain, Arjun Das, Harish Uthaman and George Maryan.

Bholaa is set for a theatrical release on March 30, 2023. Apart from this, Ajay has a handful of upcoming films including Maidaan and Thank God. He will also be seen in a cameo role in Ranveer Singh-starrer Cirkus.
